NEWS OF WEST SIDE

Closing Exercises of the Hyde Park Literary and Dramatic Society.

CHARLES T. MILLER INJURED

He Fell from a Building on Which He Was Working—Oxford Mine Idle on Account of a Break in the Machinery—Closing Social of the Iroquois Club—Proposed Musical Competition—Personal and News Notes.

(The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 1010 Jackson street, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.)

The Hyde Park Literary and Debating society held their closing exercises last evening in the Welsh Philosophical society rooms on South Main avenue. John R. Edwards, the newly elected president, occupied the chair. After the business of the society had been disposed of, Charles E. Daniels introduced the following resolution in regard to the illness of Haydn Evans: Resolved, That the Hyde Park Literary and Debating society in final session on May 28, 1894, extend to our most esteemed and respected member, W. Haydn Evans, our sympathy in this time of his illness, and express our hopes that he will soon be with us again.

The first feature of the programme was a history of the society by Howard Davies and Charles E. Daniels. A short time was then devoted to reciting verses of poetry from memory. Refreshments of cake, fruit and ice cream were then served and the remainder of the evening given to social converse. Emerson Owen, the popular young vocalist, rendered several selections, accompanied by George T. Griffiths on the banjo. Speeches were made and the heartiest good will prevailed as the members bade each other adieu to meet in September.

Fell from the Roof. Charles T. Miller, proprietor of a store on Diamond avenue, met with a serious injury yesterday at noon. Mr. Miller is erecting a handsome dwelling on that thoroughfare, and was working near the roof painting a part of the building when in some unaccountable manner he missed his foothold and fell to the ground, a distance of nearly forty feet. Mr. Miller was not injured internally, but to what extent cannot yet be learned.

The Franklin Fire company received their new team of horses yesterday, which were purchased from Frank Scott. The animals are of fine appearance and have good speed and will be used for hauling the steamer.

NORTH END.

The 6-year-old son of Officer John Salter was bitten on the leg by a vicious dog belonging to Joseph Stewart.

The boy's leg was badly lacerated which caused considerable loss of blood. The dog was shot later.

A special meeting of the Father Whitty society was held at St. Mary's hall last night in regard to the matter of decorating the graves of the heroic dead on Decoration day. At the last meeting held last Tuesday evening it was unanimously resolved to withdraw from the Catholic Total Abstinence union of the Diocese of Scranton unless the board of government turns over the trophy within ten days. SEEING SCRANTON SIGHTS.

Lehigh Valley Passenger Agents Delighted on a Tour of Observation.

Charles Lee, general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley railroad, and A. W. Nonnenmacher, assistant general passenger agent, both of Philadelphia, accompanied by W. W. Bryant, traveling passenger agent, of Wilkes-Barre, reached this city via the Delaware and Hudson yesterday at noon. They dined at the Wyoming and spent the afternoon observing points of interest within the city. They left on the 4:16 Delaware and Hudson train for Wilkes-Barre.

A Tribune reporter in conversation with Mr. Lee on the train toward Wilkes-Barre, listened to a flattering tribute to the Scranton city. The party visited the steel mills, other industries and the Moses Taylor hospital, and left with the impression that Scranton is a very clear, progressive city, alive to every advantage, possessing fine streets, substantial buildings, good street car service and a general hustling spirit.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied by publication, by the writer's name. The TRIBUNE will not be held responsible for opinions here expressed.)

THE SUNDAY CLOSING MOVEMENT.

Editor of THE TRIBUNE:

Dear Sir: There has been a good deal of talk of late in the pulpit, in the courts and on the streets, about the American Sabbath, and the duties of the citizen with regard to it. Man is naturally an irreligious being and he hates to have even whole-some restraint upon his actions, although it may be for the general good. The criminal never thinks the law a good one that punishes him for his crime, and hence the constant clamor for delivery from liberty. Webster defines the term liberty to be "ability to do as one pleases, freedom from restraint." Are we to understand from this definition that a man may lie, swear, steal, cheat, murder or publish vulgar, obscene literature, and send it through the mails? If so, why the restraints of the government according to the Bible, which was written by the finger of God as a standard of morals, for all nations and for all time. Who, therefore, defines the Sabbath of the Pilgrim fathers to be blue laws, might as well define the laws from Mount Sinai as creation, the supposition is that it was kept during the 1700 years of antiquity history, having been written upon the hearts of the people prior to any written law on tables of stone. But when it came thundering amidst fire and smoke from the summit of Mount Sinai, it was recognized as a divine institution, and, from the Exodus to the incarnation of Jesus, it was kept by the Jews, and the penalties for its violation were severe. In Numbers, chapter 15, verse 32, it is written, "that the congregation brought the transgressor without the camp and stoned him with stones that he died." The day was so sacred that the Levites were not even to gather the manna in the wilderness on the Sabbath day; and the scriptures are full of penalties that were inflicted by God upon individuals who violated the fourth commandment.

Whatever might have happened during the 4000 years that the Jews were in Egypt, for 1500 years after their deliverance from bondage, they kept the day as most holy unto the Lord and since the resurrection of our Lord, Jesus Christ, one day in seven has been kept as a day of rest by all Christians. When the Pilgrim Fathers came to America they brought the Christian Sabbath with them and although its strict observance may be regarded by modern society and by publishers of newspapers the "blue law problem," yet it has had an excellent influence in working up our national prosperity.

Lord Macaulay in his history of England says: "If the Sunday had not been observed as a day of rest, but the axe, the spade, the anvil, the loom and he might have added a thousand other things which are carried on to day to gratify human selfishness had kept at work seven days instead of six, we would not have occupied the position we do today among the nations of the earth." A writer on physiology says that cleanliness, pure air, good food and exercise in the form of labor is essential to man's physical, well being and so it is and sleep, as God has set apart a seventh portion of our time as a day of rest, if we violate Heaven's laws we shall suffer for it in the end, physically, morally, intellectually and as a nation, for a nation without a code of morals to hold it together will fall to pieces.

Such was the case with the great empire of Babylon. During the Jewish captivity in Babylon, the Jews were charged to assert their rights to keep the Sabbath day holy as a divine institution handed down from their forefathers and as given by Moses in the fourth commandment from Mount Sinai. But great Babylon is no more.

Socrates, the philosopher, who educated the monster Nero, St. Augustine tells us in refuting the religious Jews, charged its Sabbaths with causing the neglect and obstructing the commercial and industrial affairs of the nation by dooming to idleness and waste the seventh part of life. And is not America waiting in the footsteps of that once great empire that proclaimed herself the mistress of the world, but now because of Sabbath desecration and other vice described in the first chapter of the epistle to Romans, "I Chabod is written on her wall."

And with us is not Sabbath desecration, with our great corporations, our drug stores and whiskey shops almost if not altogether a question not of absolute necessity but of dollars and cents. And what in the name of common sense do that class of our citizens want who are to-day running nine-tenths of the gin shops and whiskey bells of the country, and who are the authors of nine-tenths of the crime, misery and wretchedness of the land, and not content with filling our lock-ups, jails, prisons, penitentiaries, poor houses, doubling our taxes every year, disgracing our homes, ruining our families, reducing them to beggary and want, hitting our boys for the gallows or a drunkard's grave, and then in addition to all the rest doing their best to destroy the institutions of this God given country by robbing us of the sanctity of the Sabbath under the name of personal liberty. But may God save us from such a liberty as that liberty that does away with civil and divine, a liberty that leads to anarchy and ruin.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN DAVY.

NOTES OF SOUTH SIDE

Board of Trade Will Be Asked to Take Action About Lake at Conell Park.

RUMORS ABOUT EGAN UNTRUE

He Has Not Been Heard From—Miss Warner Married to Benjamin Dunning—Concert Tonight by St. John's Choir—Traction Company Officials Inspect South Side and Greenwood Lines—News Notes.

A week from tonight the regular meeting of the South Side board of trade will be held and among other important measures that will be considered, Thomas J. Moore intends to bring up the project to purchase the three-acre hollow contiguous to Conell park, situated on the eastern side of Crown avenue. The purpose, of course, is to construct it as a basin for an artificial lake. A lake at the park would enhance its popularity to an extent that can hardly be at this time measured.

He Is Still in Paris Unknown.

The sudden disappearance of Michael J. Egan from his home on South Wyoming avenue without any tidings of him since then, has again been a leading topic on the South Side, arising from a report that his wife had received a letter from him dated from some western city. A TRIBUNE reporter investigated the rumor and learned that there is no truth in it. Mrs. Egan is convinced that her husband is dead. She says that he would surely write to her if he were alive.

Benjamin W. Dunning and Miss Eva D. Warner were united in matrimony Saturday afternoon by Rev. E. L. Santee, of the Cedar avenue Methodist Episcopal church, at the bride's home on Hickory street. Miss Effie Dunning, a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Fred W. Warner, a brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Dunning was granted a divorce from her husband, Peter Dippie, not long ago, from whom she had been separated long before on the ground of cruelty and desertion. It was a very romantic courtship on the part of Mr. Dunning. He picked her over the ill-treatment and name accorded to her by her former husband, and pity soon developed into love, and he asked her to share his home.

St. John's Choir Rehearsal.

St. John's choir rehearsed for the last time last night and Professor E. E. Southworth was delighted with the capable manner in which the different numbers were sung. The concert tonight will furnish a treat to all who are fortunate enough to attend. The voices on St. John's choir fairly equal those of some of the paid singers of larger churches in big cities.
